

Arriving in the UK

When you get to the UK, you will need to get from the airport or station. There are a few options.

Taxi transfer

This is the easiest option. A taxi will collect you from the airport and take you to your accommodation or destination.

We can organise this for you - contact accommodation@burlingtonschool.co.uk for prices and information.

If you prefer to travel alone from the airport or station, the following pages give you information.

From Heathrow Airport:

There are 2 ways of getting from Heathrow by train:

- The Heathrow Express goes to London Paddington station. It is the quickest way to central London from Heathrow.
- The Piccadilly Line on the London Underground goes to Earls Court and Central and North London.

If you want to travel by coach, National Express has regular buses to London Victoria Coach Station.

See <http://www.nationalexpress.com> for more information.

From Gatwick Airport:

Trains run from Gatwick Airport to these stations in London:

- London Victoria
- London Bridge
- London Blackfriars
- London St Pancras
- Clapham Junction

The fastest train is the Gatgoes to London Victoria station.

wick Express, which

All these stations have good connections to the London Underground, local train

If you want to travel by coach, there are 2 options:

- National Express has regular buses to London Victoria Coach Station.
See <http://www.nationalexpress.com> for more information.

- EasyBus has a cheap bus service to Earl's Court and London Victoria Coach Station.
See <http://www.easybus.com/en/london-gatwick> for more information.

From Stansted Airport:

Trains go from Stansted Airport to London Liverpool Street station.

If you want to travel by coach, National Express has regular buses to :

- London Paddington Station
- London Victoria Coach Station
- London Liverpool Street Station
- London Bridge Station
- London Stratford Station

See <http://www.nationalexpress.com> for more information.

for more information.

All these stations have good connections to the London Underground, local train services, and buses.

From Luton Airport:

Trains go from Luton Airport to London St Pancras and London Blackfriars stations.

If you want to travel by coach, there are 2 options:

- National Express has regular buses to London Victoria Coach Station. and to London Paddington Station.
See <http://www.nationalexpress.com> for more information.

- EasyBus has a cheap bus service to Earl's Court and London Victoria Coach Station.
See <http://www.easybus.com/en/london-luton> for more information.

From London City Airport:

There is a Docklands Light Railway (DLR) station at London City Airport. Trains go to Bank Station in Central London and Stratford Station in East London.

From London St Pancreas:

Eurostar trains arrive at St Pancras from European cities including Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam.

Trains also arrive from Gatwick and Luton airports, as well as cities around the UK.

London St Pancras has good connections to the London Underground, local train services, and buses.

Useful Links:

Here are some links that will help you find your way around London

Citymapper - possibly the best app for information about transport in London.

Android <https://goo.gl/CGfpp1>

IOS <https://goo.gl/2Uj9ox>

Citymapper

Transport for London Journey Planner - plan your journey by public transport in London:

<https://tfl.gov.uk/plan-a-journey/>

National Rail - plan train journeys in and out of London

Web www.nationalrail.co.uk/

Android <https://goo.gl/fFGZCi>

IOS <https://goo.gl/6WdkwM>

National Rail Enquiries

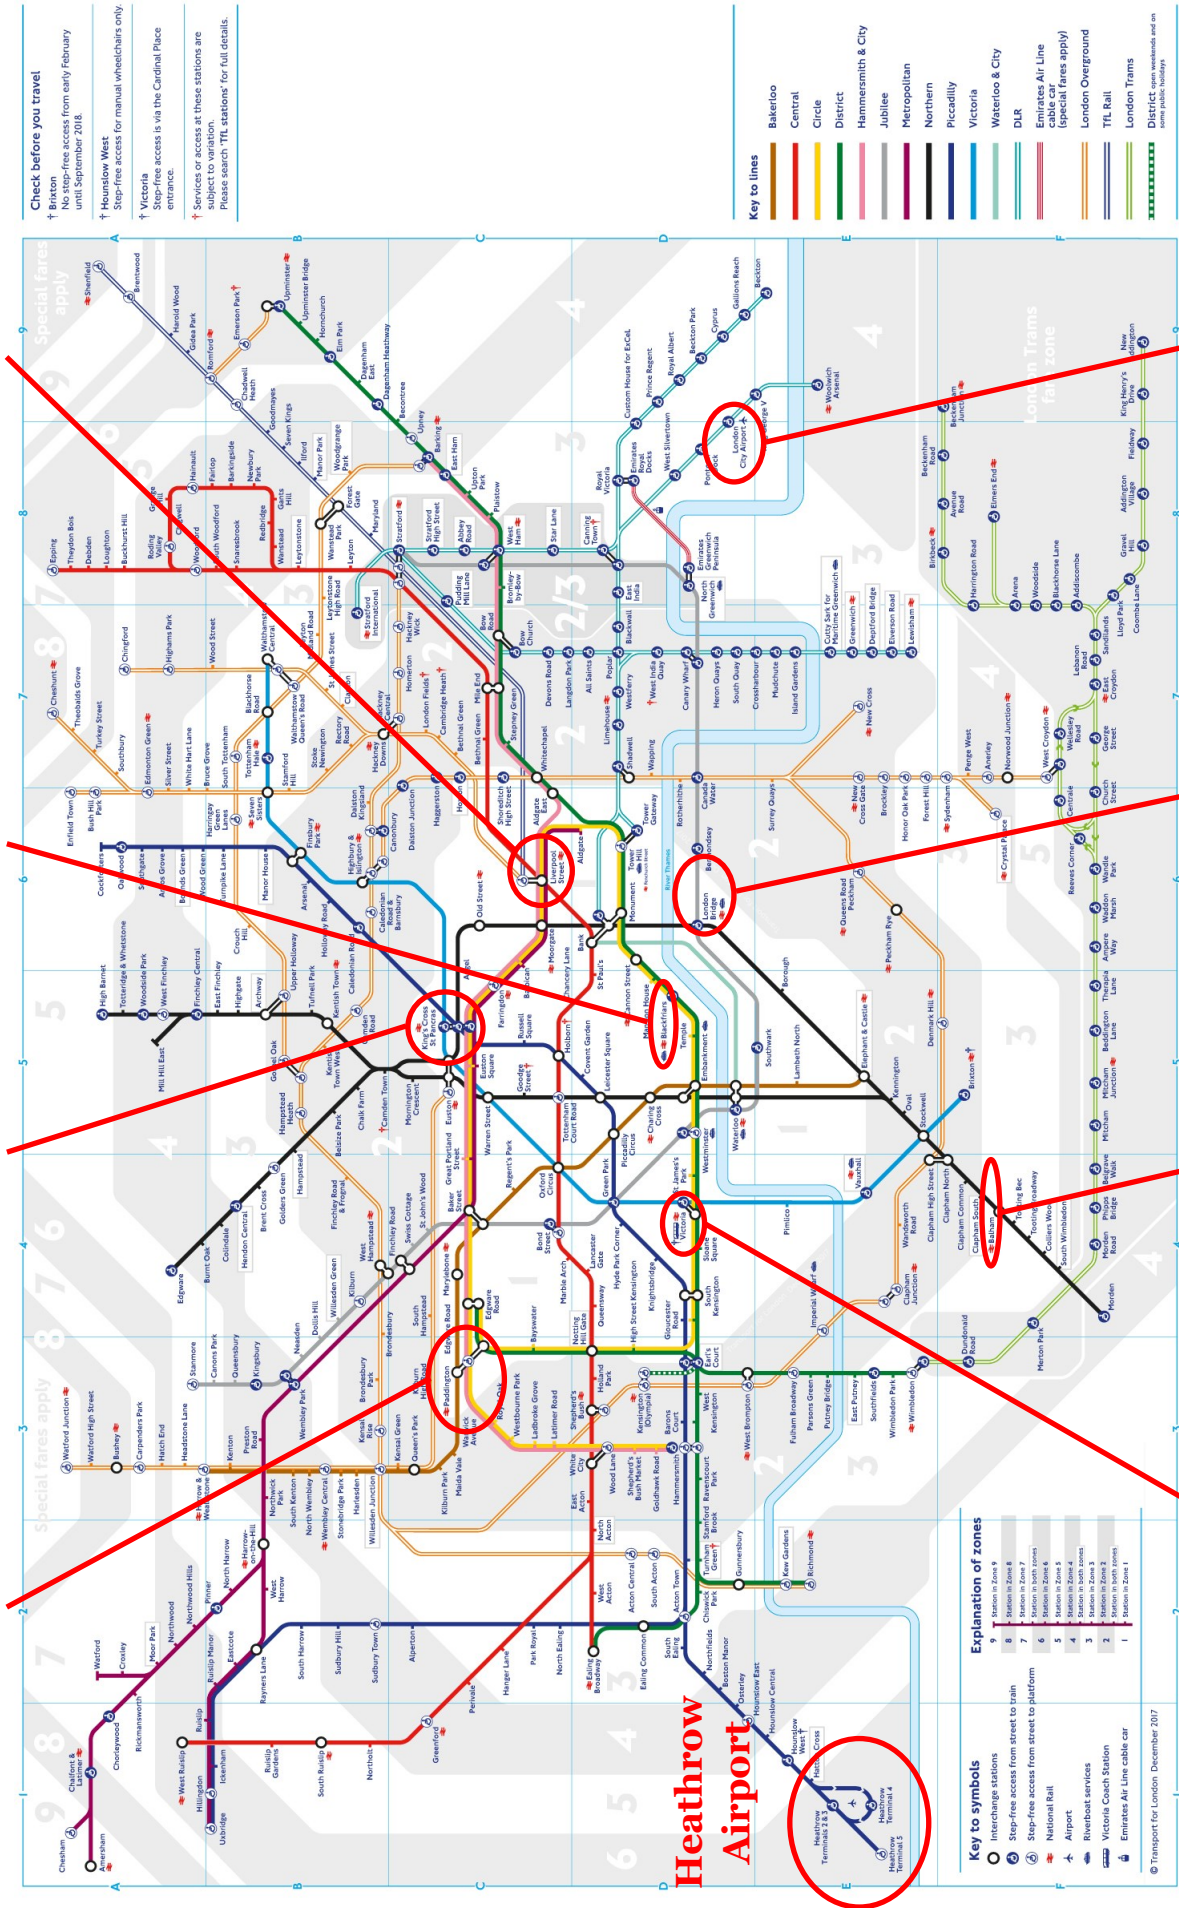

Google Maps - the most popular online map

<https://www.google.com/maps>

London Underground Map

Paddington Station
St Pancras Station
Blackfriars Station
Liverpool Street Station

You can download this map from <https://tfl.gov.uk/maps/track/tube>